

Child Development Family & Education

Industry Sector Programs Offered by MDCP

Three districts offer programs in Education, Child Development and Family Services, primarily focused in the career pathways of Child Development, Consumer Services, Education, and Family and Human Services.

These pathways provide students with the skills and knowledge they need to pursue careers in child care and related fields, with emphasis on preparing students to become teachers, help consumers, or provide family and social services.

Students have the opportunity to put their skills to work while actively operating a daycare on campus during school hours. Interacting with students and parents, preparing lessons, conducting activities and overseeing daily operations builds confidence amongst the students and ignites their passion to work with children as they form relationships with those in their care.

Some students also participate in FCCLA, which promotes personal growth and leadership development through Family and Consumer Sciences education.

The knowledge, skills, attitudes, and behaviors learned through these studies can be transferred to advanced training and education, such as the Victor Valley College Child Development program.
