Trona Joint Unified School District

Trona High School is currently offering two welding classes to our students. Most of the students enrolled are also concurrently enrolled at Cerro Coso Community College for dual enrollment credits and are planning to continue to take welding classes here at THS and at Cerro Coso to become certified welders. Located at the heart of mining opportunities in the Searles Lake area, welding is a viable career path for students.

Participation in our welding pathway has helped students to solidify their career choice and has inspired our students to continue their education and training beyond high school. This class has helped students to grab ahold of a tangible future with great possibilities, especially in our far north part of the county.

While Trona HS is small, innovation is at the heart of what we do. For example, we have offered a class for students to learn about business practices through auto maintenance and repair, by which we were able to hit content from multiple sectors for our small but capable student population.

While we don't have a large student population, we work hard to connect our students to career opportunities and the paths to realize career goals.
